A traditional home with picturesque views over the valley all the way to the rolling green hills in the distance

Built prior to the 1950s and recently renovated, this true gem with classic world charm and traditional elements has withstood the test of time but now awaits your care and attention.

An iron gate guides onto a stone-paved court and terrace, adorned by blue wood shutters and ivy crawling up and around the walls. On either side of the house, beautiful iron-framed arched glass doors open into the sitting lounge on one end, and a homey kitchen with a fireplace on the other. The loft suspended above the lounge offers additional space and can easily be used as a study. The bedrooms are spacious and equally enchanting.
